

Grand River Parks Group Camping

Group Camping Policy

- Group campsite reservations are made directly through the parks (see grandriver.ca/parks for a complete list of our Grand River Parks and contact information).
- All group campsites have a minimum-nightly-fee, which differs between sites, park, and service types.
- The minimum-nightly-fee equates to a number of camping-units (see below for definition), and can be met when this number of camping-units check-in.
- To reserve a group campsite the booking customer (the reservation holder), must pay for their camping-unit's nightly camping fee plus the $13.00 reservation fee. This is payment for the first camping-unit and will fulfill a portion of the minimum-nightly-fee. All other units will be charged their nightly camping fee upon arrival.
- At the time of booking, the reservation holder will be informed of the balance owed on the minimum-nightly-fee and of the number of camping-units required for this fee to be met. If the required number of camping-units do not check-in there will be a remaining balance left of the minimum-nightly-fee. This remaining amount will be charged to the reservation holder on the day of check-out, collected from a payment hold pre-authorized at the time of check-in.
- Contact the park directly for fees and group campsite specifications such as max capacity, services, camping-equipment allowances, etc.
- The GRCA general camping policies will also apply; visit grandriver.ca/parks for this information.

Camping-Unit: A group campsite camping-unit is defined as the "vehicle" (single vehicle or vehicle towing a trailer, where trailers are permitted) and its occupants. The park will notify of the minimum unit requirements for each group campsite. The following are checked-in and charged as a unit:

- Vehicles
- Vehicles towing a trailer
- Motorhomes
- Camper Vans
- Truck Camper

Group Sites Fees

To Reserve a Group Site:

- To secure the site the reservation holder must pay at the time of booking for their own camping-unit's nightly camping fee, along with the reservation fee of $13.00; this is payment for the first camping-unit:

$$\textbf{(BOOKING FEE)} = (\text{nightly camping fee}) \times (\text{number of nights}) + (\text{reservation fee})$$

At the time of Check-In:

- The reservation holder must make a pre-authorized payment with a valid credit card for the remaining amount owed on the minimum-nightly-fee.
- If the minimum-nightly-fee is not met then the difference between the number of units checked-in and the minimum-nightly-fee is charged to the pre-authorized payment. If the minimum-nightly-fee is met no charge will be made to the pre-authorized payment.
- All units are charged as they check-in, with the exception of the reservation holder who paid at the time of booking:

$$\textbf{(UNIT FEE)} = (\text{nightly camping fee}) \times (\text{number of nights})$$
